FPA note to company named above:

One of your clients has complained about you in the FPA Traders Court. Before anything else, we and your client invite you to present your side if the issue.

We will hold the issue as pending in a semi-private folder for the next 5 business days. If there is no response, the issue will be moved to the Open Cases folder for an open discussion before it is put to a vote.

Companies are strongly encouraged to present their side of an argument. The goal of the FPA is to provide a mutually satisfactory conclusion. In some cases, the company's response is more than sufficient to show that a case should never have been opened.

We ask you to please only provide the information necessary to present your side of the issue. This may include things like trading records, terms of service agreements, and other items to support your point of view. The trader has waived his/her privacy, but we ask all parties to try to be respectful.

Please visit www.forexpeacearmy.com and click on the Contact Us link at the bottom of any page in the site. Let us know the FPA Forums Name of the trader who sent you this. If you have an FPA Forums Account already, please let us know the username. Otherwise, we will create one for you. We will then grant your forums account access to the semi-private discussion thread and email you the link.
